FAQ’s

- Career exploration and internships;
- Vocational development

Is there support on campus?
- Yes:
  - Office of Accommodative Services
  - Campus Counseling Services
  - DCC Cares
  - Campus Academic Support Centers

If I audit a class, what can I expect?

A course audit allows a student to participate in a classroom experience without earning a grade or credit for the course. Think Ahead students are not required to cover the tuition cost for these courses, and may enroll in one credit bearing course each semester. Registration is facilitated by the Director of Accommodative Services.

- Students auditing a class may purchase the text book, however this is not required. Textbooks for each course are available in the DCC Library.
- You may take exams and submit assignments for practice and the experience, this is not required.
- Students auditing credit courses should be ready to attend the first class when the credit bearing courses begin, usually a week before the Think Ahead program begins.
- The Office of Accommodative Services is available to provide classroom accommodations and assist with assignments.
